Marsch Futurity Feat Tops All Records; Dunstan Features Surprise

That unregenerate weather man! After smiling upon the meeting at Washington Park, Chicago, all through the week, on Saturday, the 4th, he covered the course with a very wet blanket.

The skies hung so low that it seemed one's umbrella could not be put up without touching them; and a steady drizzle set in about noon that, keeping up hour after hour, left the track like a water-soaked sponge.

In consequence the Washington Park Futurity, one of the season's richest and most important two-year-old fixtures, was run under very unpleasant conditions; but the result was probably true to form as far as the winner Occupy, was concerned.

That the condition of the track spoiled the chances of Alorter, that sold almost equal favorite with Occupy and Jezrahel (coupled) would seem certain. For he turned in about the poorest performance to his credit, never at any stage being in contention and finishing seventh in the field of nine.

As he is a son of The Porter, a famed "mudder" in his own day and the sire of numerous noted ones, it was taken for granted that the going was "made for him", hence his huge following. Instead he seemed utterly unable to extend himself.

Meanwhile it appeared made to order for Occupy, as he jumped into Continued on Page Seventeen

Exciting Competition In Fair For Britain

The open performance was won by Charlie McMullen's Grey Rock with his Golden Rule 2nd. Toss Up, owned by A. C. Texter from Welland was 3rd, and another entry from the McMullen Stables, Rose O'Day was 4th.

O. D. Robinson's Royal Scot won the bridge path hack and came right back to win the middle and heavy-weight hunter, with Mr. Texter's Toss Up 2nd. Mrs. D. G. Rockwell's Hawk Trap 3rd and Mr. Robinson's Crusader 4th, recently acquired from George McCullough along with the famous performer Watch Me.

2 Keeneland Colts Prove Their Worth In Warrenton Ring

By Rigan McKinney

The 44th annual Warrenton horse show and the 24th annual Warrenton pony show made a full day of it on September 6 with their combined shows held at the Warrenton horse show grounds. The spirit and influence of the times were shown as war bonds and stamps were awarded in every class and in most of the classes, they were donated. The show was well run despite the shortage of labor as a few men were on hand to take charge of the jumps and the gates and grandstand showed the lack of men to handle the tickets. However, if one hadn't attended previous Warrenton shows, the difference would not have been noted, so well did those men on hand take care of the situation.

A three-ringed circus has nothing on the two-ringed events of the combined shows insofar as trying to see everything at once. After watching the jumping in the main ring, the conformation was judged in the outer ring, but meantime the main ring was filled with either ponies or Continued on Page Eleven

Inspection Reports Are Given On Yearlings In Virginia Establishments

At North Wales Stud

J. North Fletcher was good enough to make a tour of the yearlings at Warrenton for The Chronicle. Here is his report.

Accompanied by Dan Cox of the Eastern Breeder we visited North Wales Stud and inspected the 6 fillies which are to be sold at Meadow Brook, Sept. 21-22. From the yearling filly barn one has an excellent view of North Wales and its many agricultural enterprises, including in the distance, "Chicken City"—where shortly they will be producing 70,000 chickens annually to help our meat shortage. You also see part of the 500 head of Hereford cattle which are now grazing on North Wales and the adjoining farms which Mr. Chrysler has recently purchased. Going through the farm we had a glimpse of a large flock of sheep as well as some 50 brood Continued on page Sixteen

About Face First In Model Hunters At Dartmouth Show

Rosamund Almy's Pol Roger Awarded Hunter Stake In Close Decision

(Courtesy M. C.)

Sunday, August 29, was an excellent day and the Dartmouth Horse Show was a success with all classes well filled and a goodly number of spectators, most of whom came by bus and shank's mare. The show drew heavily on New England hunters and all the hunter classes averaged about 16 entries.

The model hunter had a good winner in Mabel Owen's big 4-year-old About Face (Action—Reverse, by *All Gold), with 2nd to Warren Read's Nervy, Quansett's Dim Hope 3rd and Mrs. Francis Sears' beautiful gray Brenda 4th. Very ably ridden by Mrs. William Almy, Brenda was also the hunter hack winner with Richard Almy's Braggart 2nd. Mrs. Gilbert Fernandez's grey mare, Vanity Box, was given an excellent ride by Mrs. Walter Keyes, formerly Miss Bobby Williams, to place 3rd in working hunters, a qualified class won by the Powers Stable's Atophan.

Junior Horse Show At Oyster Harbors Draws Record Crowd

The Oyster Harbors, Cape Cod, Mass., Junior Horse Show on Sunday, August 29, drew a record attendance, with every box taken at the Oyster Harbors Ring, the gallery filled and proud parents perched on the rails.

Frank Flynn, capable equestrian director at Oyster Harbors, who formerly was at Cohasset, put on a good show and he can well be proud of his horses and the performances.

Mrs. M. Chichester duPont, Wilmington, Del., judged the driving classes and Miss Helen Danforth, Wellesley Hills, Mass., judged the riding events. Both judges have summer homes at Oyster Harbors. Miss Danforth won her first blues at the Oyster Harbors Shows and this was her initial service as judge. C. C. Roberto, ring master, Ted Rolfe, announcer.

Elkridge Displays His Old Form In Winning Harbor Hill At Aqueduct

Carrying topweight of 151 pounds, Kent Miller's Elkridge flashed some of his 1942 championship form when he crossed the wire an easy winner in the twenty-sixth running of the Harbor Hill Steeplechase Handicap, the feature race at Aqueduct on Wednesday.

Very ably ridden by John Harrison, the five-year-old gelded son of Mate—Best by Test scored by four lengths over Bayard Sharp's Knight's Quest, under 145 pounds, who led the field until the last jump. Third, a length and a half back, Rokeby Stables' Bank Note with 139 pounds, was six lengths in front of the odds on favorite, R. K. Mellon's *Replica 2nd, who refused to extend himself at any time during the running.

Somewhat smaller and a little less classy than recent steeplechase stakes, a field of six faced the starter in this event, and at the break, Knight's Quest, with W. Passmore in the saddle, went to the top immediately and opened up a two or three length lead. Nearest in pursuit, Elkridge was another length or two in front of Bank Note. Running under restraint, *Replica 2nd, Invader and Uncle Seaweed completed the field in that order. Continuing in this fashion for more than a complete turn of the field, there was no change in position until rounding into the far side the second time when T. Merriweather sent Invader forward with a Continued on page Sixteen

Noel Smith Is Junior Champion In Minnesota

By Woogie

The Minnesota State Championship Equestrian Association presented their first Junior Championship Meet at the Hopkins Fair Grounds, August 22nd. The meet was divided into two classes; Saddle and Hunter Seat, the later of which you Chronicle readers are interested in.

The unlucky number of 13 competed for the 6 trophies and 10 ribbons. Each rider entered the ring and performed separately. He led his horse into the center, mounted, walked, trotted and cantered each once around the ring, took two jumps; trotted in a straight line Continued on Page Five

Hunting Notes:-

Stag Hunting With Devon And Somerset

By Capt. Philip K. Crowe

FOREWORD:—Here are two letters we have recently had from Capt. Phil Crowe, they explain themselves. Captain Crowe "takes his fun where he finds it", and we wish to take this opportunity of thanking him for allowing us to share it with him. We will run these three stories in a series to complete their sequence, then we have a series from Henry Higginson, just in, which will also afford everyone good reading. This is nearing the hunting season—we hope you will enjoy it with us, in ever increasing numbers.—Editor.

August 18.

The enclosed is the first of three articles on the Devon and Somerset. The second will be about the hunt proper and the last about Exford and the hounds. It was a really delightful leave and I am more than grateful to the masters of the D and S who arranged it.

Both of the joint masters want copies of these articles, so I would very much appreciate it if you would send me three tear sheets of each as they are published.

On my next leave late in October I am going to the Fell Country and will do you a series on John Peels foot hunting country.

Sincerely,

Phil Crowe.

September 1.

Thank you for the clippings of the Shropshire and Mounted hound stories.

Enclosed find the two final installments of the Devon and Somerset, of which I should also appreciate clips to send the masters. They collaborated to insure the accuracy and I was able to work out a program for them re. hunting over artillery ranges.

Wish I could send you some stories of the real hunting over here—in the sky but security prohibits an intelligence officer from sending anything out of that sort.

I occasionally make trips with the British Navy however and may be able to send you a tale of Hunt class destroyers. As you know they are named after packs and have a picture of their namesake in the ward room. Also usually a mask.

Enjoy the Chronicle more all the time.

Sincerely,

Phil Crowe.

1. The Harboureer

Stamped deep in the black earth of the mangold field were the "slots" or hoof marks of a great stag. Closely the harboureer scrutinized them and told me quietly that the marks were new. We tied our horses and followed the trail down to a potato field. Here the stag had fed and fed wastefully, taking only one bite from each uprooted tuber. At the far end of the field he had scrambled the hedge and left a barely perceptible line down an upland pasture to the bracken tangle of Brimblecombe Break. Returning to our horses, we made a wide and careful swing around the cover. No marks led out. Our stag was harboured, at least for the time being, for tomorrow's hunt.

Hector Heywood, the harboureer of the Devon and Somerset Stag Hounds, has a fascinating if arduous profession. For four months of the year, while the wild red stag are hunted, it is up to him to select and track down suitable quarry as near as possible to where hounds will meet. From July 15 to October 15 only "warrantable" or stag five or more years old, are fair game. Hinds, which are not harboured, are hunted from November to the middle of March and there are six weeks of Spring stag hunting starting in April.

In many cases Hector never sees the stag so he must be an expert in judging the slot. After ascertaining that it is in a certain cover, he must then watch to see that it does not move before hounds are laid on. Harboureing takes place the day previous to the meet with another check on the morning of the hunt. Upon him, quite as much as on the huntsman, depends the day's sport and in war time, when every hunt must result in a kill, his job is even more important.

Thru' the kindness of Mrs. Hancock, the Joint Master of the Hunt, I was furnished a wonderfully sure-footed moorland pony for my expedition with Hector. He met me at ten at Rhyll, Mrs. Hancock's house, and, as we jogged up onto the moors, told me something of himself and his life's work. Born thirty-six years ago in the village of Dulverton, in Somerset, he has spent his entire life on the moors, learn ing the ways of the deer from earliest childhood. Six years ago he became harboureer and since the war has worked a sixty acre farm in addition to his regular duties.

The country Hector covers em-

No man on earth lives more than 60 hours from your local airport...

"A LOT OF THINGS are different in India than they are back home in Altoona," wrote a 19-year-old sergeant in the U. S. Air Forces to his mother in Pennsylvania.

Never before in his life had this boy travelled beyond Pittsburgh — until he flew to India in a Liberator bomber.

To him — and hundreds of thousands of hometown American boys like him — India was a place "off there somewhere."

He'd seen it in the newsreels and travelogue films. In his geography book he'd learned something about India's crops and minerals and untold riches, and the funny way the people dressed.

Now his letters from overseas — telling how people talk and work and live in a strange land he never dreamed he'd see — are penetrating into the lives and thinking of his family and friends in the town where he grew up.

This is happening all over America today. And when our boys come home again — from India and China and Britain and Dutch Harbor and Australia and North Africa — they'll think of the world as they know it really is.

Not as isolated continents or separate hemispheres, but a clustering of nations whose individual welfare, in the peace to come, will depend upon the welfare of them all.

They know it can't be otherwise, when no spot on earth is more than 60 hours' flying time from your local airport!

In such a world, right now, we face the necessity of waging and winning a global war. Tomorrow — in a world shrunk still smaller because of even swifter long-range planes to come — we and all other nations must somehow contrive to get along together as neighbors.

Another futurity was chalked up on Saturday for the stable of John Marsch when the full brother to last year's winner annexed the Washington Park Futurity. Occupy, (*Bull Dog—Miss Bunting, by Bunting), did not match Occupation's victory in the Arlington Park Futurity, finishing 2nd to his stablemate, Jezrahel but he made an impressive showing to win by 1½ lengths ahead of Dearborn Stable's Nelson Dunstan, who in turn was half a length in front of Brookmeade Stable's Pressure.

In No. 1 post position, Occupy assumed the lead at the start and was never headed. K. Murchison's Dutch Raider was an early contender but dropped back after being forced wide. Mr. Marsch's Jezrahel was carrying top-weight of 122 lbs. and was up to within half a length of Occupy in the stretch but dropped back to finish 6. Occupy's share of the purse was $43,625, increasing his earnings to $54,325.

The Washington Park Handicap with a $50,000 added purse provided a thrill for the Labor Day fans when L. B. Mayer's Thumbs Up and Lazy F Ranch's Royal Nap raced to a dead-heat 1½ lengths in front of last year's winner. Coward & DuPuy's Marriage. Winner of the Butler Handicap, Thumbs Up finished 3rd in the Washington Park Handicap in 1942. Bred by H. S. Scott, Thumbs Up is by imp. Blenheim II—Gas Bag, by Man o'War.

Royal Nap, a 3-year-old son of imp. Pharamond II—Snooze, by Peter Pan, was bred by Mrs. F. A. Clark. He had 2 previous victories to his credit and was one of the long shots for the handicap.

Sharing top-weight of 124 lbs. with Valdina Farms' Rounders, Marriage quickly assumed the lead but was headed in the stretch by Thumbs Up and in the driving finish between Thumbs Up and Royal Nap, held on to finish 3rd.

New England's last important 2-year-old stake was a close victory for Mrs. F. West's home-bred Comanche Peak (Sangreal—Fair Glen, by Hallucination). The James H. Connors Memorial Stakes was the feature on the Labor Day card at Narragansett and C. T. Chenery's Cattachtipico and G. Felkner's Valdina Craft made it a blanket finish as they dead-heated for 2nd as Comanche Peak won by a nose. W. Hellis' Tropea was the early pace setter but relinquished his lead to Cattachtipico at the half-mile mark and lost ground in the last 5-16 mile to finish 1 length behind B. F. Lister's Eternity.

changing diagonals, dismounted and answered questions on the anatomy of his mount. Points were awarded for each one of these things. It was interesting to see just how quickly and gracefully the children mounted and collected their reins. Noel Smith mounted in a most unique way (try it, you who are small and have tall horses). He put his left knee in the stirrup and gave himself "a leg up", it was done perfectly and in lightning speed. All of this group really are splendid riders and it was a matter only of one being smoother in changing gaits or having slightly better leg or hand position; they all sat on their horses well and looked a part of their mount. When everything had been taken into consideration Noel Smith and Miss Nina Carpenter tied for first place; both were asked to ride Miss Claudette Maxwell's, gay and lively chestnut, April Miss. Noel controlled her a little better, and was presented with a huge silver cup. Miss Carpenter also received a cup, and smaller cups were given to the next four.

It was an exciting event and I believe interesting to those who watched as well as those who took part. Next year it is hoped that a class will be held at each show throughout the season and all the winners will be eligible for the finals; as the well known D. Sterrett Gittings Trophy of Maryland is run.

Golden Rust Wins At Woodhill
The Red Cross Junior Horse Show was held at Woodhill, Wayzata, Minnesota, on August 28th. The horsemanship classes were divided into age groups, the youngest was won by 8 years old Jack Johnson; 6 year old Pat Paetzel was second and Jack's 6 year old sister Elizabeth was third. The children's father is Ralph Johnson, who teaches riding at Woodhill, and it looks like he hasn't neglected his own; they both placed again in Beginners Jumping. Pat Paetzel has a nice 5 year old pony named Goldylocks; she is a Shetland and was bought at The Judy Farm, in Illinois she often wins ribbons and today won the Pony class.

The Wurtele sisters (there are 4) usually collect a few satins and today was no exception; Recall with Mary up won the Children's Hunters, also Hunt Teams with April Miss and Simba. Connie Wurtele was second in Beginners Jumping and third in the Bareback class.

The Touch and Out went to Golden Rust with owner, Zandra Morton, up. Ellie Mills on Baldy and Charles Sweatt, Jr., on Dan Dart tied for second; in the jump off it was Dan Dart who ticked and so was third. The show was judged by Mrs. A. D. Lindley.

braces roughly those sections of Devon and Somerset known as Exmoor and its environs, an area of about two hundred square miles. It is a land of wild heather and gorse covered moors, rushing streams, and heavily wooded valleys. Villages are few and far between and one can ride for miles over the rolling uplands without seeing a farm house. Largest of these uplands is the Exmoor "forest", which is not a forest at all but a great stretch of deserted moor. The rainfall is heavy and the going in some places extremely tricky due to bogs made by unseen springs. The safest way is to follow the paths made by the little Exmoor sheep and ponies, but on foggy days no one but a native can find his way across the moors.

The deer, according to Hector, spend their days in the wooded valleys and only come onto the open moor and cultivated fields to feed during the late evening and night. It is often possible to see them at dawn and twilight with the aid of glasses and when this is so the har-bourer's job is made far easier.

The farmers are another source of information as to the whereabouts of deer. They report to Hector all damage to their crops and it is up to him to decide where the deer are making the heaviest inroad and should therefore be hunted first. The farmers are paid compensation for this damage by the hunt and are also given the venison of the quarry killed, but of far more importance to most of them is the opportunity to hunt themselves. There are keener sportsmen than the moorland farmers and in the last analysis it is due to their support that stag hunting carries on.

One might well ask why the deer are not stalked and shot and the answer is that this was tried at the start of the war and given up as a bad job. Without the help of hounds it was almost impossible to find and move the herds. The Ministry of Agriculture recognized this and left matters entirely up to the hounds for the duration. This arrangement has worked out extremely well. The herds have been reduced drastically and are now under close control. It is estimated, in fact, that there are not now more than a few hundred left on Exmoor and two days hunting a week easily copes with them.

The sun was setting when Hector and I completed our circuit of Brimblecombe Break. On the hillsides the purple of the heather was streaked with gold and down in the valleys the oak forests sighed darkly in the evening breeze. On the highest ridge I turned my horse for one last look at the cover. Somewhere down there in the shadows, the stag rested. Would he return there after his nightly feast? Hector thought so and by this time I had an abounding faith in Hector.

Change in Masters

Word comes from Fort Riley that Lieut-Col. John Hughes Stodter, Cav. who has been M. F. H. of the Cavalry School Hunt has received orders for overseas duty, his successor will probably be Lieut-Col. William B. Mershon, Jr., Secretary of the Cavalry School, however this is not confirmed.

Notes From Great Britain

By J. Fairfax-Blakeborough

Denbigh-Sired Horses Repeat Remarkable And Historic Breeding Achievement

A remarkable and historic bloodstock achievement has just been repeated and curiously enough Yorkshire is again closely concerned. Col. Lundgren, the famous Argentine Thoroughbred breeder (whose horses in this country are trained at Malton and Middleham), in 1934 bought from the late Sir Ernest Tate, the useful bay colt Denbigh (by Winalot out of Friar Palm). Winalot stood at Burton Agnes, E. Yorks, and there Denbigh was bred. He made top price (950gs) of the Burton Agnes lot at the sales when Sir E. Tate bought him. Denbigh went straight to Peacock at Middleham to be trained and won eight races (including two dead-heats). In 1934 he was a good third to Umidwar in the Champion Stakes after which Sir Ernest sold him to Col. Lundgren for his Pernambuco Stud. This week Walter Easterby, the Malton trainer, who has for some years had most of Col. Lundgren's horses, told me he had just received a cable that Col. Lundgren had won the Brazilian Derby, that another of his horses was second, and that both these, together with the third horse, were by Denbigh.

In 1818 Mr. Henry Peirse of Bedale, won the St. Leger with Reveller, his Ranter was second and he also bred The Marshall, which was third, and which was nominated by Mr. Peirse's Wensleydale neighbour, Mr. T. Orde Powlett. All these animals were by Comus. This Yorkshire triumph for owner, breeder and sire have often been quoted as an historic event without parallel. This, however, is not the case, for in 1863 Stockwell sired Lord Lyon, Saverlake and Rustic (1, 2, and 3 in the Derby), and the previous year the same sire was responsible for The Marquess, Caterer, and Knowsley, the first three in the Two Thousand Guineas. In the National Trial 'Chase in 1931 the three placed horses were by Drimmore, and, in 1940 at Bath, Gold Lily won the Weston Plate, she and the second and third all being by Gold Bridge. I could quote other instances but one more must suffice—in the Duke of York Stakes at Kempton Park in 1898 all the placed horses were by Gallinule.

In addition to telling me of Denbigh's success as a sire, Walter Easterby informed me that Rio Tinto, which he trained for Col. Lundgren, has safely reached the Argentine. Rio Tinto was looked upon as Pontefract specialist, having won six races over that track, a record which however, Mount Lothian, another Malton trained horse, easily beat.

Miss Dorothy Paget's Dreby

Miss Dorothy Paget is the fourth sportswoman to win the Derby, Lady James Douglas won it in 1918 with Gainsborough, Mrs. G. B. Miller in 1937 with Midnight Sun, Mrs. MacDonald-Buchanan in 1941 with Owen Tudor. There has been no lady owner who has raced to the same extent as Miss Paget, and none (not excepting the Duchess of Montrose, who raced as "Mr. Manton"), who has spent anything like the amount on bloodstock as has the owner of Straight Deal, the 1943 Derby winner. He was one of the smallest horses in the substitute classic, measuring 15 hands 2 1-2 in. only. The most diminutive animal ever to win the Derby was Little Wonder in 1840. Bred by Mr. Alexander Nowell, of Underley Hall, Westmorland, he was bought for 65gs at Doncaster Sales by Mr. Robertson of Ladykirk, Berwickshire. When he won the Derby Little Wonder was under 15 hands high.

Miss Paget has never favoured big, leggy horses, knowing from her experience in the hunting field that (although there may be truth in the old Turf saying "a good big 'un will always beat a good little 'un"), the little 'uns often have wonderful stamina and courage. Miss Paget is a daughter of Lord Queenborough by his first wife. His lordship spent many years in U. S. A. ranching and became a director of several large concerns in the States. It has been stated that Miss Paget is one of the richest heiresses in Great Britain, her grandfather being Mr. W. C. Whitney, the lessee of Volodyovski, when he won the Derby.

The Whitneys, by the way, have helped to make American Turf history. Prior to embarking upon the Turf Miss Paget was well-known in the show ring as an exhibitor of hunters and hacks, which few could handle better than herself. It was in 1931 she took Beechwood stables at Exning and started racing in earnest. Her first notable success was when Solanum won the 1931 Lancashire 'Chase. Perhaps more interested in National Hunt sport than the flat, Miss Paget, of course, won the 1934 Grand National with Golden Miller. Not many Turfites have a National and a Derby to their credit, although not a few have spent a good part of their lives and a fortune in endeavouring to capture one of these classics.

It was in 1936 that Miss Paget paid 15,000gs for the bay colt Fairway—Golden Hair, this being the biggest price ever paid at auction for a Thoroughbred. Unfortunately the colt (named Colonel Payne) contracted knee trouble and made only one appearance on the Turf, when he was placed third. Now Miss Paget has got some recompense for this disappointment and that of the moderate Derby candidate "Tuppence". Prior to the War Miss Paget was the leading owner both under National Hunt and Pony Turf Club Rules. Under the latter Tommy Carey, who won the Derby on Straight Deal, won three Northolt Derbies on ponies. His Derby victory on Straight Deal is his first classic under Jockey Club Rules, and crowns a most successful season.

Miss Paget has had a number of trainers during her comparatively short but remarkably successful connection with the Turf. It was Walter Nightingall who prepared Straight Deal for the Derby. He is one of a family long prominent as trainers and jockeys, best known perhaps, in the history of National Hunt sport. He succeeded his father at South Hatch, Epsom in 1927. The late William Nightingall, was a steeplechase jockey prior to turning trainer. He died in 1926. Walter was also a cross-country jockey, but did not gain much distinction, his riding career being brought to an end by a bad accident at Sandown, after which he became assistant to his father.

For two centuries the Nightingalls have been associated with the Turf as trainers, and Arthur (who rode three National winners—Ilex, Why Not and Grudon), has in his possession a whip presented in 1738 to Thomas Nightingale, one of his jockey forbears. Arthur says "I cannot go back to the remote period when Nightingalls were not riding". His grandfather John, rode out at exercise at Epsom after he was eighty, and always in a top hat. Arthur's father (grandfather of the present Epsom trainer), used to say to his four jockey sons (who were all riding at the same time)—"Do your best, and if there's a better to beat you at the finish, that is your misfortune, not your fault". Another of his wise sayings was "Keep your hands down and your mouth shut when you have a horse good enough to win when you want him".

A MISTAKEN FARMER

A neighboring farmer of ours came in the other day, said he, "I know you don't agree, but these landowners who farm and take horses to shows would be doing more good if they would pay all their attention to their farms." HE WAS WRONG. There are very few of those sort of people who don't contribute generously to the nation's food supply, on the hoof or through the dairy. Besides this they contribute to what everyone knows is good for the morale of the nation and for those who are overseas, who continually ask us to keep the shows, hunting and kindred sports going for them, against their return—in fact, they are doing a double job.

NO DEAD SEASON WITH HORSES

The Chronicle never has to look around for something of current interest to fill its pages. No sooner is one sport over than another comes along, if not in one part of the country, then in another. A well-balanced program in this world of ours, is that in which the closing of one season calls for preparation for the next, and that means a healthy state of affairs. Generally it is that preparation means the ultimate success of the future program. This year especially it is necessary to make a careful study of what to do, for the status of the War is uncertain. When it ends, there will be a strong rush for animals to rehabilitate the warring countries with.

MEADOW BROOK, AN OPPORTUNITY

Talking of looking to the future, those who are taking their fun in this life with racing and 'chasing can certainly afford to go to the sales at the celebrated polo club. They will find Thoroughbreds of the best bloodlines in the land, offered for sale in the best of condition for the new owner to make something of them. Such a chance comes but once in a year and some of the bloodlines now available will never come up for sale at this age again, think of that.

teurs to ride was won after a jump-off by Mrs. Rockwell on Hawk Trap and another horse from Welland, the well known Tuxedo, owned by C. L. Robins and ridden by Doug Robins, was 2nd. Harry Price's Brownie ridden by Brian Herbinson was 3rd and Mr. Robinson's Crusader was 4th.

Golden Rule won the jumping stake, with Mr. Texter's Toss Up 2nd; Ken Ostrander was 3rd with Kovan, and Brownie was 4th.

Young Brian Herbinson rode Rosalie Howell's Kip to win the junior hunter. This mare is by a Clyde out of one of Segrain's Thoroughbred mares and is really a jumper.

Gordon Atkinson has developed another nice saddle horse in Perky who won the saddle class but he also jumped a bit being placed 3rd in the novice jumper, to Sam Silverman's Muldoon, the winner, and Rosalie Howell's Kip who was 2nd. Ken Ostrander's Kovan was 4th.

Doug Ness's Hi Colleen won the light weight hunter with O. D. Robinson's Regalaire. This handsome chestnut gelding won the hunter class and the Ladies' Hunter.

Brian Herbinson rode Stan Francis' lovely pony Daphne to win the saddle pony class as she had done easily at the Junior Horse Show.

Of the classes which were postponed from the Junior Show, Lady Lil owned by Norma Kellough won the knock-down-and-out stake. Grey Rock was 2nd, and Seven-Up 3rd. All three were ridden by the Pogue boys. Shirley Bedson was 4th with Billy. This made Lady Lil with Billy for the junior jumping championship, so they jumped off and Billy won, the reserve going to Lady Lil.

Some very nice riders turned out for the horsemanship class which was won by Venus Hood, Eric Pogue taking 2nd, June Davidson 3rd, and Shirley Bedson 4th.

The pair performance class was very good and was not decided until after a jump off when the team from Welland won with Toss Up and Tuxedo, who took every obstacle as one horse.

The knock-down-and-out stake was the most exciting of all, two horses only making a clean round, the last fence being up to 5'. These two, Hawk Trap and Brownie, who was ridden by Brian Herbinson, jumped off, and Hawk Trap won. Six horses were tied for 3rd, however, all having gone out at the last fence which in the jump off went up to 5'-4". Mr. Texter's Toss Up got 3rd in the jump off but the other five

Keswick Hunt Show On September 18th

With the big Baltimore Show on this week-end and the Warrenton day having been such a huge success, it is well to suppose that Keswick will also bring out a great many who still have the urge to stay at it, now they have started. There are several things that will assure its success.

It is a straight hunter show, with 21 classes in all, the last three being the Preliminary Hunter Championship, Final Hunter Championship and the Jumper Championship. Only four classes are for jumpers.

There will be no adjustments made, those who show there will find the usual high type show and prize list, they have been used to expect in that good hunting country. Anyway on the 18th there will be a good show at Keswick, so spectators and exhibitors should keep that date free.

horses and another class was on the way.

The yearling and 2-year-old classes were interesting and the pony classes were a bit deserted by all but the youngsters while the 2 classes were being judged in the outer ring. Two yearlings from the recent Keeneland Yearling Sales proved to be good ones for Rigan McKinney as they were 1st and 3rd, 1st going to the brown colt by imp. Bel Aethel—stylistic, by Diavolo and 3rd to a chestnut colt by Infinite—Dogmatic, by imp. Bull Dog. Both yearlings were purchased from the Mereworth Stud consignment. C. Oliver Iselin, III's brown filly was 2nd and J. North Fletcher's chestnut colt was 4th.

The 2-year-old class was a reverse in decisions from the last meeting of Springsbury Farm's Coral Sea and Aubrey Fishback's Beacon Fire at Charles Town horse show. Beacon Fire was awarded the blue, the red going to Coral Sea with Benton Stables' Gold Barron, 3rd and Peach Brothers' Grey Val, 4th.

Showing nothing but a faultless style, Mr. and Mrs. W. Haggin Perry's many-time champion, Cornish Hills, garnered his 2nd straight championship in the hunter division. No grand championship award was made this year, but had it been, another ribbon would have adorned the Perrys' tack room. From the grandstand it appeared that Cornish Hills had only one hind tick against him for the day, that occurring in the ladies' hunters. In 6 classes, he accounted for 5 blues and was 2nd in the working hunters, the blue going to Springsbury Farm's versatile hunter, Big Boy.

Mrs. Douglas Prime's former 3-year-old champion of Virginia, Pappy, was awarded the reserve ribbon in the conformation hunter championship. Ridden throughout the show by Pvt. Alex Calvert, with the exception of the ladies' hunters when little Miss Eve Prime showed him, Pappy won the 5-year-olds under saddle, was 2nd to Marbert Farm's Ferry Landing in the model young hunters and 3rd in the Thoroughbred hunters.

With 8 p. m. staring everyone in the face, the jumper stake was still going on and the championship awards had not been made. After this class and the pony championship award, the 4 horses with the highest total points won in the show were to be shown under saddle. In the darkness it was almost impossible to distinguish the different entries and when the owners of the various cars parked around the ring turned on their lights, the situation wasn't much better. Marbert Farm's Ferry Landing had amassed a total of 9 points for the novice or green hunter championship but as he failed to come into the ring, the tri-color was given to U. S. Randle's Randle's Time and the reserve to Springsbury Farm's Traumertan.

Springsbury Farm's Big Boy, on whom one can depend for a good, steady performance in either a hunter or jumper class, won his 1st class of the day, the schooling class. Three jump-offs were necessary after the raising of jumps before the blue was awarded to Big Boy. Mrs. G. P. Greenhalgh, Jr.'s Moorwick, who jumped nicely throughout the show, was 2nd. Kenneth Wilson's Mayor Of Shrewsbury, a former open jumper from the Perry stable, was 3rd and Independent Livery's Mosby, 4th. Mosby came back in the open to all jumpers to garner the blue, the red going to the Front Royal Remount Depot's Black Beauty and Big Boy 3rd. C. L. Creswell's Silver Horn was 4th.

The uncertainty of grandstand judging was shown in this class. Several spectators were doing a bit of personal judging and had scored Mosby, Black Beauty and Big Boy without faults. Someone was wrong because the judging was done immediately and the ribbons were pinned in the above order.

The jumper stake had the unfortunate luck to be the last class of the day and was almost held in the complete darkness. After wondering how the horses and riders could possibly see the jumps, the scoring showed

Big Boy and Yankee Doodle (formerly shown as David by Jackie Warren), tied for 1st and Black Beauty and Marbert Farm's Red Water tied for 3rd. A coin toss resulted in Yankee Doodle's victory over Big Boy and Black Beauty's rider won the toss up for 3rd.

Championship honors in the pony show for the 2nd consecutive year went to Peggy Hamilton's Miss Fox, reserve going to Dorothy Fred's Storm Pearl. A nicely moving chestnut mare, ably ridden by Peggy, Miss Fox won the blues in hunter hacks and working hunters. Kitty Sadler's Melody won the touch and out, 2nd going to Miss Fox. In the junior hunter hacks, Sally Spilman's Light McGee was awarded the blue, Mary Davy's Best Time, the red and 3rd to Miss Fox. She was also 4th in hunt-

FARMING in WAR TIME

Looking over our neighbor's fence is informative and certainly interesting. It is good to know how the other fellow meets the payroll, rent, interest or all the other farm expenses—still having room for a few mares or young horses.

Genesee Valley Farming

By Esther Taylor

This is a general impression of Valley farming. The situation here at Charlton Farm is much better than average, as far as help goes. Charlton Farm belongs to Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. Z. Case. A year ago last April I came to work for them as farm manager, and luckily the hired men who had been here for many years have continued to work for me. The two men that are kept the year around are both negroes named Jim and John originally from Virginia; both of them are married and own their homes not far from the farm. Only one is of draft age. The older fellow has two boys in their early teens who are part of the farm crew whenever we need them in summer and on Saturdays during the winter. The younger man and his wife take care of a "county child", a strapping fellow of sixteen who has learned enough during the past year to be valuable help this summer. Then there is John. He is old and lame, but he loves farming and has skills that come from years of planting and tilling. John works for me from time to time to start "fittin" in the spring till the silos are filled in the fall; as long as there are riding jobs that take his skill and the cold weather does not bring on his rheumatism. That is my crew.

The farm is something over 300 acres, of this 193 is under cultivation and the rest is permanent pasture and woods. The backbone of the farm business is a herd of Guernsey cows. We have around forty-five head of cows and young stock, and plan to have twenty-five cows milking at all times. The milk goes to a Rochester dairy and is called for each morning by a local trucker. Lt. Col. Case bought eleven head of purebred Guernseys just before he went into the Army and the plan is to gradually build a purebred herd. At present we do not own a herd sire and instead are using the excellent Artificial Insemination Service offered in this part of New York state. The bulls for this service are selected by experts from the Animal Husbandry Department at Cornell and are of the highest quality.

We also have some sheep. The sheep business is new to me. I had a dairy farm back in Wisconsin. But I'd better not begin to tell what I've been learning about sheep. There are experts that can do it so much better. However I hope to market around seventy lambs this fall.

And finally we have a few hogs. I like to raise hogs, but they do not fit into the farm plan here so I raise only a few for home meat supply.

The crops are 25 acres of wheat, 22 acres of oats, 5 acres of rye, 40 acres of corn (18 for silos and the rest to husk), 11 acres of Sudan grass for pasture between 6 and 7 acres of tomatoes for canning, 3-4 acre of potatoes and 80 odd acres of hay (34 acres of this is mixed hay and the aftermath is being used for pasture for cows and sheep). Last year we had about 14 acres of pea beans, 10 acres of canning peas, and 10 acres of tomatoes. Of these cash crops the tomatoes were the only ones that paid out according to my accounts.

As for figures, they need to be put in the proper setting to have meaning. That would require at least another article. Furthermore, since this is not my farm and my boss is in England I prefer to be discreet. However last year the farm seems to have paid its way and have some to its credit.

You may be wondering about the horses on this farm. We have five work horses and two tractors for farm power. Alice Martin, a Thoroughbred hunter, is furnished to carry me over the farm. But Charlton doesn't raise any hunters. Mrs. Case has a few young ones coming along, but her stable is not part of the farm. And I have a brood mare and foal, and two two-year-old fillies; and they are not part of the farm. Charlton is a typical Valley farm, larger than some, not as large as others; it is just a plain farm.

So, even though the Valley has become well known as a hunter breeding country, it is first of all a great, rich farming country. The Wadsworth family, inseparably connected with the history and tradition of this area, continues to be a most important influence. Many acres of excellent farm land are still held by them, but that is another story, a fascinating one.

The war time farm problems, you see, are similar to those all over the country. The most disturbing problem facing the Genesee Valley and the rest of the North East is the feed shortage; that one has us worried.

Cows Can Be Beautiful

By Margaret de Martelly

FOREWORD: This is a story, or rather a reporting, by a girl who knows of what she speaks when it comes to matters pertaining to horses. We are constantly asked who she is—especially by people who know their horses. She sent in this as being a lesson in efficient promotion, a superb dairy management. It is about a Candy Co. that runs its own dairy to produce the necessary milk it needs in its factory. Editor.

No description of the palace of a fairy princess has yet been written that would do justice to the home of the Guernsey herd owned by the Curtis Candy Company in Dundee, Illinois.

One thousand visitors roamed through the cool, spacious corridors of this magnificent establishment on their Field Day, Friday, July 30th. It was a conference of the Illinois Guernsey Breeders' Association.

The walls of the numerous expansive buildings are of yellow brick. The floors are concrete and the stall partitions are grey-green wrought iron. But the glass roofs are the most fantastic feature. Known around the country-side as the Glass Top Farm, it is literally that. The window openings are also solid, stationary glass bricks. All ventilation comes through fans in the ceiling. The silos which match the other buildings, are fifty feet in diameter.

Hundreds of red Guernsey cows, groomed to perfection, stand in their immaculate bedding of shavings. Visitors roamed through the aisles, simultaneously consuming Curtis Candy bars (which were free) attending to the purity of the air amid hundreds of cattle. Luncheon, also free, was served in one of the barns. Peanuts, popcorn and soda-pop—(also "on the house") sent the small fry home in no little distress.

In the afternoon the cows were judged in a shady meadow. The judge, H. H. Kilty, dean of Iowa State College of Agriculture, inaugurated a system of judging, which turned out to be a game for the spectators. Each person was given a score sheet, upon which he could mark his own decision. Then several experts were called to the microphone to express their opinions. Finally the official decision was announced.

Top among these experts was Mr. Louis Merriman, a horseman of Monkton, Maryland. Mr. Merriman, Continued on Page Eighteen

AN ARAB FROM RHINEBECK, N. Y.

"Last winter I bought a 5 year-old Arab stallion from Traveler's Rest, KARNAK. He has lovely disposition, good bone and size. I am using him with Welsh pony mares." There is no doubt about Mrs. Dows having the right idea for producing good cobs and cobs are perhaps the most useful conveyance round a farm that a man can have and they keep on less grain, too.

HUNTING ON THE RHINE

There will be many who will remember the good days on the Rhine when the pack maintained by the Coblenz Hunt hunted fox on the eastern slopes of the River Rhine. It is impossible to pick out individuals in this picture but many of them who were then junior officers are now in command of important units in this war. Those who know most of the group may find Joe Baker, Joe Greenwald, Ralph Talbott, Sam Talbott, Mark Devine, Lord Kilmarnock (the late), George Peek, John Downer, T. Q. Donaldson, "Daddy Sheen", Dick Hocker. There are many more familiar to all, to give their ranks in out of the question, but suffice it to say that the days are not so far off when some of the Allen will be hunting there again.

FOALS.

Of the six fillies consigned to the sale, three are by Quatre Bras II, the Teddy stallion that sold for $38,000 at the Audley dispersal sale. All of these fillies have the smoothness of their sire.

The pick of the lot in my opinion is a bay filly by Quatre Bras II—Escapade by Tetratema. She is a good average size filly with a lot of quality, very smooth and racey looking, and looks like she would come to hand very early.

Another bay Quatre Bras II filly out of Shady Lady by Black Toney should appeal to the trainer who desires something to come on quick for the early two year old races. This filly is well ribbed and stands over a lot of ground.

The third Quatre Bras II is a light bay filly out of a Blenheim II mare, Battle Magic. This mare did not race. Like the other two Quatre Bras II, this filly appears to be the type that will come to hand early. She should be a good racing prospect and also has plenty of quality.

Two fillies by Chrysler II, by Teddy show a great deal of substance. One is a bay filly out of Golden Measure by Sir Barton, and the other a dark bay filly out of American Daisy by American Flag. These two big fillies impress you as the type that could go a distance and also would be good chaser prospects.

A Johnstown bay filly out of Lampshade by Whichone completes the group. She is a bit plain looking, but on the rugged type and a typical Johnstown.

All of these fillies are in good condition—their coats look good and they are not hog fat, but in good shape to go on into training.

At Great Run Stud

Adjoining North Wales is Great Run Stud, owned by Mr. James Mitchell. He is consigning one filly and two colts to the sale.

The pick of his consignment is a very attractive bay colt by Quatre Bras II out of Foxcraft by Foxlaw. This colt shows a great deal of quality—very smooth and certainly looks the part of a race horse. The census of opinion is that he is one of the best looking Quatre Bras II colts.

A chestnut filly by Tintagel out of War Banner by Man o'War is big and looks like she will be a bit slow in developing. She should also appeal to anyone who might be interested in a show or hunter prospect as she has the size and front which is desirable.

Bay colt by Flares out of the good race mare Dinner Date. This is a flashy looking colt and at present is a little light in flesh, but should improve between now and the time of the sale. He is a bit backward in developing and chances are he will be better on the track as a three year old than a two year old.

Blue Ridge Stud

Courtney Smith the well known horseman of Middleburg was good enough to pass on the yearlings in that section. Here is his summarizing of those consignments.

The late Cary T. Grayson made a great name for his Blue Ridge Stud nursery near Upperville, Va., and Mrs. George L. Harrison continued the work, this year sending 9 fillies and 5 colts to the Eastern yearling sales to be held at Meadow Brook.

It must be admitted that the War Admiral suckling colt caught the eye of the inspectors of the yearlings but he will be up for inspection next year should he be sent to the sales. Blue Ridge Stud's mares produced 16 foals this season, of which number 12 were colts and practically sharing top honors with the above colt was a good looking son of Sickle.

Happy Argo, who stands at Blue Ridge Stud, has a very classy daughter going to the sales. She is out of Rough Sea, by Sea Sick (Fr.), and has great depth and good bone.

Two Psychic Bid fillies are included in the list: a light bay filly out of Arero by Teddy with great length, good shoulder and should be a rugged mare. The other is a chestnut filly out of Running Briar by Bright Knight, with a good shoulder, depth and length.

Rosemont also has 2-in the consignment; a bay filly with lots of quality out of Minaret 2nd by Ksar and a half-sister to the handicapper horse, Marriage, out of War Wedding by Man o'War, a filly with lots of class, good length and depth and wonderful substance.

The Sickle—Watch Her by On Watch is a nice bodied bay filly with a lot of substance. The chestnut filly by Discovery—Third Party, by Teddy is a nice looking youngster who resembles her sire. A bay filly by Tintagel—Stray Note, by Strolling Player has lots of class, good legs, feet and bone. The last on the list is a brown filly by Abbot's Nymph—Flying Wind, by Strolling Player with lots of quality, good shoulder, depth and substance.

Challenger II has 2 of his progeny in the list; a bay colt out of Minnant, by Pennant, a big rangy colt who has lots of substance, good shoulder and depth and is very much on the type of his sire. The bay colt out of We, by High Time is very balanced, has a great deal of substance and should come to hand early and show a great deal of class and is the top of the lot.

About the best looking Milkman yearling seen this year is Blue Ridge Stud's chestnut colt out of Step Lively, by High Time. He is well balanced, has good bone and lots of front. The chestnut colt by Pilate—Blond Belle, by North Star III has a great deal of substance, good length and lots of class. The Blenheim—Brave Lady, by Crusader bay colt has lots of class, good length underneath and good depth.

These yearlings will be sold on the first day of the sales, September 21.

Raspberry Plains (Lipscomb)

When the trip was made to W. H. Lipscomb's Raspberry Plains, located north of Leesburg, Va., it was before the drought had had such an effect on the countryside and the 750 acres of the farm were in good condition and farming operations were going at full speed. As Mr. Lipscomb was checking over a crop in a field across from the yearling barn, we looked around and noticed that he also had 160 head of cattle grazing in one of the far fields (the exact number was obtained from him). However, as all Thoroughbred breeders have plenty of time to show one around, he soon arrived and we started our notes on the Raspberry Plains' yearlings.

The outstanding colt was a chestnut by Psychic Bid—Tedbriar, by Teddy. His dam is a full sister to Sun Teddy. This is a well balanced rush that threatened to carry him into the lead, but in doing so this Chance Play gelding hit a fence hard, and then sulked along for the rest of the trip. As the field raced down the backstretch, Knight's Quest still continued to lead by a couple of lengths, and as he hit the far turn it was apparent that any serious challenge would have to come from Elkridge and Bank Note who were four or five lengths in front of the others and running strongly. Around the turn and into the stretch for the last time, Knight's Quest gamely held on in the lead, but Elkridge was now gaining on him with every stride and as they cleared the twelfth jump, the Mate gelding went into command and had a two length advantage at the last fence, which he increased with ease in the short run to the wire. Although tiring, Knight's Quest had enough left to hold Bank Note safe in the final drive. While Replica 2nd wound up a distant fourth, he was not disgraced for he appeared sore and did not run within pounds of his previous performances.

The victory of Elkridge was worth $4,175, and was clocked in the very creditable time of 3:44 1-5, a little less than 3 seconds off the track record held by Bath.

On Thursday, Mrs. J. B. Balding's Kennebunk, a half brother to Elkridge, turned in a sparkling effort over hurdles, and won going away from Robert Lehman's Gulliver 2nd, who just lasted to save the place from Mrs. E. du Pont Weir's Nayr by a head. Kent Miller's Mateson finished a distant fourth.

A field of seven went to the post, and shortly after the break, Gulliver 2nd took the lead by a length or two and went out to set a fast pace. In second place, Mateson led Mrs. Weir's first time starter over hurdles, Flying Tiger, by a length, with the eventual winner next, a couple of lengths back. Nayr, Novlew and Stevee W. completed the field with the latter trailing the entire trip and never a factor.

As the field rounded the near turn and entered the backstretch, Gulliver 2nd increased his lead to three lengths as Mateson began to drop back. Only a head behind the latter, colt with good legs, feet and shoulder and shows a great deal of class.

Second choice was the chestnut colt by Dunlin—Ready, by High Time, a full brother to the stake winner Redlin. He is a well matured colt with a good top line, well balanced, good shoulder, well ribbed up and his rare quality.

A bay colt by Psychic Bid—Cinema, by Sweep makes a good appearance. He is a rangy colt with lots of class, combining the blood of Fair Play and Ben Brush and should make good. Another Psychic Bid bay colt is out of Duration, by Hourless and is a big strong colt, well bodied, balanced and sturdy, with good legs and feet.

A well balanced gray colt by Dunlin—Sunny Cloud, by High Cloud shows stamina and class, is closely ribbed up and has good legs and feet. He is a half-brother to the winners Silvery Cloud, Cloud Time and Retlaw. A colt with exquisite quality and class is the Dr. Freeland—Flower Girl, by Pennant. He is well balanced and should make good.

Kennebunk and Flying Tiger, on almost equal terms, were racing strongly, but Kennebunk, under clever handling from D. Marzani, moved forward to be in second position by the time they reached the next hurdle, and then ranged up with the pacemaker before they reached the far turn. These two, with Kennebunk slightly in the better of it, opened up a lead of four or five lengths over Flying Tiger and Mateson as they reached the last turn. Flying Tiger, with John Harrison up, had been a forward factor to this point, but now began to drop back steadily, and as a matter of fact, finished the race looking rather lame. Belatedly, Nayr, a stablemate of Flying Tiger, and rated off the pace most of the way, began to close a lot of ground picking up Novlew, Flying Tiger and then Mateson. Coming into the stretch, Kennebunk had the lead by three parts of a length. In second position, Gulliver 2nd led Nayr by three or four lengths, but a bobble at the last two hurdles by Gulliver 2nd permitted Kennebunk to establish a commanding lead as he cleared the last hurdle and raced for the wire. Closing strongly, Nayr would have caught Gulliver 2nd in another stride as they flashed by the finish line, but he made his move too late to threaten the winner.

On Friday eight platers went to the post in the Arc Light Steeplechase, fashioned for non-winners of $700 twice this year, and it resulted in an interesting contest as well as a clever win for Rokeby Stables' Rover Boy, a four-year-old gelding by Messenger—Ruella. Going forwardly all the way, although fencing greenly, W. Leonard, his rider, actually had Rover Boy in the lead at one time. In the early stages, and then managed to draw clear at the ninth jump. He kept him there until the end under a hustling ride, to stave off a strong challenge from Miss Muriel Cleland's thirteen year old Emmas Pet, who ran a game race, and had a margin of three lengths over Broodmeade Stables' Danny Deever, who finished third. Pico Blanco 2nd and Kellsboro finished fourth and fifth respectively, the latter moving forward strongly at one time, only to have his rider

Worms...

HAVEN'T A CHANCE!

Worms—the worst enemy the horse knows—can now be eliminated safely, thoroughly, and without the loss of a single day's training with

Thoroughbred Strongylezine

This safe, non-toxic remedy is recommended by trainers like Hirsch Jacobs and many leading breeders. Strongylezine requires no tubing, drenching or starving...and can be used with confidence for sucklings, broodmares, yearlings and horses in training. Big advantage: it never lays a horse up or even puts him off his feed.

Price $3 per bottle, $30 per dozen. From your dealer, or sent direct, postpaid. Send name of dealer when ordering by mail. Receive free booklet "Worms in Horses." P. O. Box 200, Lima, Pa.

the lead shortly after the gate was sprung, was never headed and, after seeming to be in trouble as they came through the upper home stretch, mastered his contenders in a commanding way and drew out to win by a length and a half.

He also ran the distance, six furlongs, in 1:13 2-5, which shaded the time in the previous race, 1:13 3-5, made by Overdrawn when he defeated a field of the fastest all-aged horses on the grounds.

A feature of the Futurity was the surprising race run by the black colt Nelson Dunstan, namesake of the talented turf writer so well known to all readers of the turf press. Starting at 24 to 1 he came from far back (sixth place) at the head of the stretch, battled his way through a whole bunch of colts and landed the $6,000 second money by half a length.

The gross value of the Futurity was almost $56,000, of which Occupancy received $43,625; while his breeder-owner, John Marsch, of Chicago received both the gold cups that had been provided by the management for the suppositious pair of sportsmen that bred and owned him.

Earlier in the long double-barreled meeting that has been running practically all summer at Washington Park, because of war conditions, Mr. Marsch had won the Arlington Park Futurity with his other two-year-old, Jezebel; on which occasion Occupancy, expected to win, ran second.

Thus the Chicagoan has completed a Futurity feat without precedent.

For, last season, he won both the Arlington and the Washington Park Futurities with Occupancy. Now he has repeated with his two juveniles, Occupancy (own brother of Occupation) and Jezebel.

Nothing like this has ever before occurred in turf records.

The two events were worth $109,970 to their winner in 1942. The pair this year were worth $92,275 to their two winners; while the second money won in the first of them by Occupancy brought in $6,000 more.

Thus in two seasons Mr. Marsch has won no less than $208,245 in Futurity money in these two events.

But as Occupation last year went on to win the Belmont Park Futurity as well, it being worth $57,890 to him, the five events add up to $260,135, net cash, in first moneys only.

The $6,000 won by Occupancy as second in this year's Arlington Futurity plus the $3,000 breeder's award at Belmont Park last year makes a grand total of $269,135; in addition to which the Marsch trophy room now fairly coruscates with the gold cups that have descended upon it, as it were in showers.

All of which illustrates two things. The first is the way in which fortune sometimes literally overwhelms an owner of race horses.

The second is the extreme precocity of the get of Bull Dog, the sire of the two own brothers, Occupation and Occupancy.

Both of them being by him and out of Miss Bunting, by Bunting—Bull Dog, as is well known, is an imported French stallion own brother of the still more famous and successful Sir Gallahad 3rd. He is otherwise renowned as a sire of brilliant two-year-olds. While Bunting not only won the Belmont Futurity lose an iron.

Saturday's race brought five handicap performers to the post in a two mile brush race. It was captured by Caddie, making his first start in the colors of Rokeby Stables since being claimed from Montpellier. Four lengths behind the winner, Greek Flag, Raylywn and Parma finished heads apart in that order. The only other starter, Picture Prince tossed Sidney O'Neill, his rider, at the sixth jump.

After a good start, the field began to string out with Raylywn in the lead, setting a moderate pace, two lengths in front of Picture Prince, who was another length and a half to the good of Greek Flag. Then came Caddie, with Parma bringing up the field. Continuing in this order for a turn of the field, except for Picture Prince who lost his rider midway down the front stretch, Greek Flag began to close a little ground on the leader as they raced around the near turn. Raylywn lost ground at his fences, only to regain it on the flat. In the run down the far side, Caddie moved forward to be on equal terms with Greek Flag, and as they approached the far turn, overtook the leader, and then increased his lead going around the turn to be two lengths to the good of it as they straightened out in the stretch. Greek Flag also caught Raylywn as they approached the next to last jump, but was no match for the winner, as Leonard kept his mount going right up to the end. Parma was kept closer to the pace in this race, than is his custom, and closed some ground at the end to finish a close up fourth.

On Labor Day, seven maidens went to the post in the Erne II, a mile and a half test over hurdles, and it brought victory to Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Chesapeake, a three-year-old, by Ladkin—Best by Test, incidentally a half brother to Elkridge and a full brother to Kennebunk, both winners a few days ago. Norge 2nd, the runner up was beaten three lengths by the winner, and he in turn was five lengths in front of High Tint, who finished third. River Wolf, a first time starter over hurdles came in fourth.

Village Chimes set out to make the early pace, closely followed by High Tint, a gap of a length or so, and then came Chesapeake, Norge 2nd and River Wolf. Coming to the fourth hurdle, Village Chimes tried to duck out, and this brought High Tint into the lead, which he continued to hold by a small margin until of 1921, but was by Pennant, winner of the same event in 1913, and both sires are from the male line of Domino, who won it in 1893—just fifty years ago.

On account of his brother's sensational career last season, Occupancy, from the beginning of this one, has been looked upon as apt to do great things. His record, however, is a spotted one, as up to last Saturday he had won but three small races, all of them purse events.

The form he showed on that occasion, however, was distinctly superior. And the urgent question now becomes: Can he sustain it when he goes east and endeavors to duplicate his brother's performance at Belmont Park?

the last furlong when he faltered. Going down the backstretch and around the far turn, the race developed into a three horse affair, as High Tint, Chesapeake and Norge 2nd, in that order, but very close, drew out over the rest of the field. Chesapeake, who had forced a steady pace all the way, finally drew clear as they hit the stretch, as did Norge 2nd, but the latter although he responded gamely to urging by George Walker, could not overhaul the winner, which was ridden by W. Owen.

who hunts with the Green Spring Valley and the Hartford also displayed a rare knowledge of Guernseys. The speed with which he dashed off the ancestry of each animal and the prices brought by her relatives, was truly amazing. He had no notes.
A very cordial welcome was broadcast throughout the grounds by Mr. Otto Schnering, president of the Curtis Candy Company. Mr. Schnering's son Robert is the very able manager of the farms owned by the organization.
The Champion of the show was Betsy of Sleepy Hollow.
The National Broadcasting Company made a recording which was broadcast over the network on Saturday morning. Columbia and Blue network were also represented, as were Life Magazine, Prairie Farmer Magazine and The Chicago Sun.

Dayton Horse Show And Franklin County Fair

(Courtesy W. E. Reynolds)

The Dayton Horse Show was for the benefit of the Army Air Force Aid Society and held on the Montgomery County Fairgrounds at Dayton, Ohio and the Franklin County was held at Hilliards, Ohio. We are glad to publish the results as these people who are mounting themselves with useful horses deserve recognition, they are just a few good disciples in a country abounding with other kinds of horses.

GOOD HEALTH—

It is good for the HORSE that The Chronicle be healthy, we are healthy and will so stay as long as you who are our partners do not let up in the constant looking around for new subscribers. This is the season when one begins to think of gifts—if you think of them early, so much the better—and there are a lot of people in this world of ours who do not have a subscription to The Chronicle, but read someone else's copy a lot of the time.

PULP WOOD—

If there was no need for a drive for pulp wood the newspapers would not be putting on a campaign for it—neither they nor The Chronicle need "fillers", our need is more space. So we ask you who ride through the country, you who own land, to look around and see if there is not some timber that you can cut for pulp. If there is, then dig around and find how you can egg someone on to convert it into pulp, this winter or next spring. Won't you write and tell us that you have been able to do something about it?—it is not for us, but for the NATION.

In The Country:-

Commanding Officer

Lt. Col. Charles B. McClelland is now stationed at Fort Meade, Md., as Commanding Officer of the 101st Cavalry Regiment. Lt. Col. McClelland and his open jumper, Smacko, were familiar figures around the horse show circuits where the pair garnered many jumper championships. Smacko now belongs to Capt. and Mrs. Alvin I. Kay of Washington, D. C. Capt. Kay is temporarily stationed at Walter Reed Hospital with the Medical Corps.

Stationed in Maryland

James "Sing" Radney, 2nd Class Specialist, Mounted Coast Guard, is now stationed somewhere along the Maryland coast line. Before entering the service, he was the trainer for Mrs. Ellsworth Augustus' racing stable.

Rocksie Eases Up

Margaret Cotter, stationed with the Red Cross somewhere in Egypt, has left her well-known open jumper and former Garden jumper champion, Rocksie, to get a well deserved rest. Rocksie is living at Meadow Brook and is under the care of his groom, Payne. With no schooling to be done, he is merely turned out or lunged and looks very well.

Hughes Reporting

Mrs. Fred "Skipper" Hughes has taken over Margaret Cotter's job with the Times-Herald and was on hand at the Warrenton Show to do her reporting and also riding Jackie Warren's Yankee Doodle. Capt. Hughes is located somewhere in the Pacific.

Aviation Cadet Hulbert, Jr.

Out of 95 young men from the state of Virginia who are engaged in the last phase of their training at San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, Texas, Aviation Cadet William P. Hulbert, Jr., is the only one from Middleburg. Billy was a regular with Middleburg and Orange County Hunts before entering the preflight school.

Shortage Of Boys To Ride

Youngsters

Jimmy Lockwood, the genial manager of the Chenery place at Doswell, Va., is in dire distress. He has lost his exercise boys, who have all gone back to school. Jimmie says he had just about got the young horses to the point of breezing a bit, when school came along—leaving things in a bad way. It is probable that others are in the same boat. If The Chronicle can be of any assistance through its classified columns let us know and also we ask anyone who knows where there are boys to tell us so that we may pass the information along. Everyone has to pull together in these times.

performances and much deliberation on the part of the judge, David Roberts of Hartford, the hunter stake was given to Rosamund Almy's good going bay, Pol Roger, with 2nd to Mrs. Sears' Brenda ridden by William Almy. There were many really top hunters shown, among which were William Almy's 2 top master's horses, Captain Hull and First Choice. We all regretted that Bayard Tuckerman did not show his own horses, but the joint master of Quansett did come and had several good rides on the Quansett Farm's Dim Hope.

Although his owner has outgrown him and has advertised him for sale, Storm Pearl and his "long-legged" rider made a combination good enough for the reserve championship. Dorothy rode him for 2 blues in the novice hunter ponies and pony hacks.

Two entries were in the pony show for Terry Drury and she was greeted with applause upon her entrance in the ring. A very young and very small rider, Terry displays splendid sportsmanship and determination in showing her ponies.

The horse show committee was fortunate in having the Vint Hill Military band for the show. The band, made up of members of the Signal Corps, was quite an added feature of the show. Another feature was the unique auction sale held during recess. Presiding over the microphone were the Mason Brothers who did their utmost to encourage anyone and everyone to "Buy a War Bond and get something free." This something free was anything from a boar, donkey, goat, turkeys, goat, pigs, chickens, etc., which had been donated to the show to be sold for War Bonds. The spirit of the spectators was soon shown as the boar was sold for $600 in War Bonds, the donkey bringing $500. The other sales were in a like range and Fauquier County realized a nice addition to their bond sales.
